FOREWORD

The Government of India, immediately after independence, realising the important role cooperatives can play in the development of national economy, recognised them as a third economic sector. They were charged with the responsibility for taking care, the needs and aspirations of rural India with special emphasis on uplifting small and marginal farmers as well as weaker section of the society.

The support received from our planners helped the cooperatives grow and play a very pivotal role in almost all sectors of Indian economy with special emphasis on agriculture and allied activities. The mere size of cooperative societies which is over 8.33 lakhs covering almost the entire population of the country speaks highly of the relevance of cooperatives in Indian developmental scenario.

India is now poised for second green revolution in which cooperatives are bound to play a dominant role in its success. With the advent of economic reforms in the country they need to gear up professionally and technically to face the challenges of competitiveness.

It is a well established fact that cooperatives have proven themselves time and again whenever the country has passed through difficult times of shortages, lack of supplies and other economic upheavals. The government of India needs to lay a renewed emphasis for the growth of cooperatives as was available till the 8th plan period.

Statistics is a very important tool in the hands of planners, this aspect of cooperatives is being well taken care of by National Cooperative Union of India. NCUI is from time to time coming out with the publication of Statistical Profile containing information not only on cooperatives but also incorporating in it various aspects of Indian economy as also of important countries in the world.

I am sure the present addition which is 14th in the series of "Indian Cooperative Movement - A Statistical Profile 2016" will be well received by the readers and shall be of immense value to co-operators, research scholars and planners.

I convey my heartfelt thanks to Shri N. Satyanarayana, Chief Executive, NCUI and his team for bringing out this much awaited publication.

Dr. Chandra Pal Singh
President, NCUI

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is my privilege to present the 14th edition of "Indian Cooperative Movement - A Statistical Profile 2016". The profile has not only been updated but has also incorporated detailed analysis of credit & non-credit sectors of cooperative economy as also different parameters of Indian economy with special emphasis on agriculture & allied sectors. Further, it also contains India's position with respect to SAARC and G 20 Nations. I am sure that the publication will help academicians and planners in framing policies. It also contains ample information for students of cooperation and professionals for their research & other academic use and will benefit those professionals who have interest in Indian economy vis a vis international scenario.

I take this opportunity to thank all member organizations, concerned ministries, NABARD, NCDC, Department of Cooperation of respective State governments, officials of Institute of Cooperative Management and State Cooperative Unions for their cooperation in timely furnishing the sought for information, enabling NCUI to prepare this profile in record time.

I am highly indebted to Dr. Chandra Pal Singh, President, NCUI for his unstinted support and guidance without which compiling of the present edition of the profile would not have been possible.

I shall be failing in my duty if I do not convey my gratitude to S/Shri Badrul Hasan, former Executive Director NCDC & Consultant NCUI and Santosh Kumar Sharma, Ex Director NCDC & Honorary consultant NCUI for their valuable contribution in bringing out this profile within a short span of five months. I am also thankful to Shri R.C Pandey, Data Entry Operator for his contribution in compiling and analysing the data collected from different sources. My thanks are also to all the employees of NCUI who participated in successfully bringing out this publication.

I shall be awaiting comments and suggestions of the readers for making this profile more meaningful in its future editions.

N. Satyanarayana
Chief Executive, NCUI
